

Cynthia Maddock

FEMALE HUMAN MAGE

Cynthia always wanted to be a mage ever since she was little. Both her parents were mages, so she was all but guaranteed a spot as a mage trainee at the academy. But when her parents were framed for a crime they didn't commit, Cynthia was barred from achieving her dream. Instead, she joined the Order to forge a new path for herself and absolve her parents.

STARTING EQUIPMENT

- 2A Initiate's Staff
- 2d6 Glowstone

Harlen Truwald

MALE HUMAN ADVENTURER

Harlen grew up with his grandparents in the mountains, always helping out around the shop. He took over more and more responsibility, and eventually made arrangements to take over the shop once they passed. But then darkness struck. The mountainside collapsed, destroying the shop and most of the town. Harlen helped the Order during the cleanup effort and decided to join permanently.

STARTING EQUIPMENT

- Dual-wielding: 1R "Hearth" (Hand-Crossbow) and 1R "Hollow" (Hand-Crossbow)

Belinda Brightstone

FEMALE DWARF FIGHTER

Belinda had a gift for finding rare materials for her friend Drövin's masterworks. One day, she discovered a radiant stone that blinded her with its brilliance. In losing her sight, her other senses became preternaturally sharp. When Drövin left his forge to join the Order after a family tragedy, Belinda followed, seeking to join as well.

STARTING EQUIPMENT

- 2M Sword "Vein of the Mountain"
- 2d6 Glowstone

Kriv

MALE HALF-DRAKE FIGHTER

Kriv was a prisoner of war enslaved to fight in an underground combat arena. After years of blood and tears, he broke free and killed his captors. Now on the run from those bent on revenge, he joined the Order to hide in the last place they'd look.

STARTING EQUIPMENT

- 1M Blackstone Sword
- Worn Buckler

Indis Aldemni

FEMALE ELF HUNTER

For years, local legends spoke of a monstrous creature haunting the wilds. After twelve years as a Hunter, Indis finally saw it—the Goblin King—rampaging through a band of Ordermembers. She unleashed a flurry of arrows, buying them time to escape. When she later found them broken and bloodied, she knew the Goblin King's reign of destruction had to end. Indis joined the Order that very day.

Silk vo Barre

FEMALE OUTLANDER MAGE

On her sixteenth birthday, Silk discovered her connection to the Arcane—quite by accident. She unleashed a surge of power through the wine barrels, sending wine bursting skyward in a spectacular explosion. Dozens of guests stood drenched in ritual wine before breaking into jubilant applause. From that day on, Silk vowed to make her tribe proud as a mage of the Order.

STARTING EQUIPMENT

- 1A Crystal Skull
- Weathered Shield
- 2d6 Glowstone

Rayne Dawnbreaker

FEMALE EMPYREAN ADVENTURER

Rayne was born into an Empyrean cult. On the morning of her arranged wedding, the leader revealed his true intent: she was to wed not only her chosen groom but many men in turn—beginning with the leader himself. In that moment, she saw the hypocrisy and control she'd been blind to all her life. She fled, took the name Rayne, and never looked back.

STARTING EQUIPMENT

- Dual-wielding 1A Sun Stone and 1A Moon Stone
- 2d6 Glowstone

Alfhildr

FEMALE HALFLING MAGE

After groundbreaking discoveries in viticulture born of arcane experimentation, Alfhildr earned a full scholarship to the prestigious College of Life & Luminaries. Long drawn to the art of healing, she now hoped to apply her gifts more practically. With that resolve, she packed her belongings and set out for Kursh. She left several weeks before classes started, wanting to get her bearings in the city first. On the road with all her belongings on her back, she was viciously attacked by a group of Needlefur Jackals. She narrowly escaped death that day, arriving at the city gates with only her shredded dress and her throwing knife Starpiercer. She spent several months recovering in Kursh hospital, missing the start of her school year. Once she was at full strength again, she instead decided to help others avoid her fate by joining the Order of Eventide.

Guthbrandr

MALE DWARF HUNTER

Guthbrandr hails from the harsh Jakkar Mountains, where survival is brutal and friendship sacred. Fascinated from youth by cooking as a precise science, he studied mountain herblore to uncover flavorful and beneficial plants. During a starving winter in Morrowraith Pass, he was driven to hunt Forsaken for meat, discovering both a way to survive and how to make even foul flesh edible. After that ordeal, he swore to join the Order of Eventide at the first thaw and use his hunting and cooking so no companion would die from cold or hunger again.
